

Patrick Yu

2515 Benvenue Ave, Apt 309, Berkeley, California 94704
(714) 651 - 5438

May 20, 2015

Uber
1455 Market St San Francisco, CA

Dear Uber:

I am writing to apply to your Data Science - Growth position. This May I am going to be finishing what has been an enlightening experience at the University of California, Berkeley.

I have an interest in this position for a couple of different reasons. First, I am an Applied Mathematics major with a Computer Science concentration. I have a strong background in both Python and Java and have taken multiple classes which have required me to use both. Second, I have a background in statistical computing with data where I used R to work with large data sets to analyze information. Moreover, I communicate with my peers effectively and have served as a leader in community service organizations. Finally, one of the biggest reasons I am interested in working with Uber is my love for difficult problems. In my time at Berkeley, I learned that I love to challenge myself. I switched into a more difficult major, did not hesitate to take demanding classes, and did all I could to demand more of myself. I want to continue to find opportunities to challenge myself after I graduate, and I know that working at Uber will provide that for me.

Please feel free to ask me any questions - my contact information can be found here and on my resume. Also, I am located just across the Bay, so I am just a stones throw away. Thank you for your consideration and time.

Sincerely yours,

Patrick Yu